The State Fair. Sedalia, Mo., August 17.—The first week of Missouri's Centennial Exposition and State Fair ended last Saturday night with the final presentation of the "Pageant of Missouri," a magnificent fireworks display and Ruth Law in her night flying stunt. A powerful searchlight operated by a unit of the Missouri National Guard camped on the Fair Grounds cast its rays high into the heavens as the diving, rolling, spinning airplane flashed in and out of its illuminating glare.

This morning found a throng of visitors passing through the Centennial Arch to enjoy the first day of the second week of Missouri's birthday party. With a perfect morning, the sun beaming on the big playground without a cloud to mar his azure domain, the week has promise of being the best in the history of the Fair. The roads to Sedalia are veritable boulevards, according to incoming tourists. They have been dried by the heavy travel and are hard and smooth. Last week was entirely successful in every way, according to officials. And the second week is expected to break all records in attendance.

The attractions offered are exceptionally including both to farmers and to city visitors. The judging program includes the best contests for perfection in every agricultural line imaginable. Cattle, hogs, sheep and other agricultural products will be on exhibition. Missouri's best is being shown. The Center State is on parade. Unusually heavy judging will be of interest to all.

Horse racing is also an exceptionally entertaining feature of the unusual program given through the week. Each afternoon will find the best animals in the country pounding around the mile dirt track on the Fair Grounds, each straining every muscle in a beautiful display of co-ordinated action and resultant speed. Every Missourian loves good horse racing. The entries at Missouri's birthday party include many Grand Circuit horses. But little is known even in Missouri that this state produces more race horses than does Kentucky. And the "Show-Me" entries will provide keen competition for the other spectators in the travels about the big loop.

Dairy men and persons interested in farming and fine cows have had great interest in the dairy cow race last week. The race is continued until the last day of the Centennial Fair. In the Holstein class, Sedalia Walker Prilly Alcarra has been pushed back into second place and Lady Mayflower Rest Easy holds the lead with 330.2 pounds of milk and 11.754 pounds of butter fat. In the Jersey class first place is held by Oxford's Eminent Ida, 4 years old, owned by R. Oliver, of Independence.

Judging of hogs has been a feature in the live stock department, and will be continued all this week. In the Chester White Show, W. W. Henderson, of LaPlata, reports noticeable improvement in all classes shown. The breeders report more orders for hogs than they have animals for sale. This, they say, is on account of the immense corn crops that have to be marketed through hogs or not at all. H. H. Kildee, of Ames, Iowa, is judge in this division. An exceptionally heavy judging program will be had this week.

The Boys' State Fair school has about 85 boys enrolled. One boy is sent by each county in the state. The other boys will be in today, it is expected. Tents are provided them on the Fair Grounds. One large tent will be used as a class room. The instruction will be given under the supervision of S. A. Baker and George L. Cole, both of Jefferson City. The school lasts all week.

Plans for a membership campaign were formulated by Duroc breeders at a meeting yesterday. About one hundred members were present. T. L. Johnson, of West Plains, president of the association was in charge of the meeting. Officers for 1922 will be elected in January, at the time of the annual Farmers' Week of the College of Agriculture at Columbia.

The Chamber of Commerce here reports plenty of rooms still available on their information file. An estimate by the room bureau Saturday placed the number of rooms on file at 5,000. Uniform messengers at each railway station and an information bureau both on the Fair Grounds and downtown offer complete accommodations for every visitor.

The Tarkio Missionary Conference. The eleventh annual Tarkio Missionary conference will be held on the campus and in the buildings of Tarkio College at Tarkio, Mo., commencing on Saturday evening, Aug. 20, and continuing through August 25th. The conference is under the auspices of the United Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions but makes up its program with little reference to denominational lines.

Among those appearing on this year's program are: Dr. W. Griffith Thomas, the widely known Bible teacher and writer for the Sunday School Times; Dr. William Evans, formerly a professor in the Torrey Bible Institute of Los Angeles; Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer, editor of The Muslim World and a specialist on Mohammedan missions; Dr. J. K. McClurkin, a strong and spiritual preacher and president of a successful missionary conference near his home city, Pittsburg; Dr. W. B. Anderson, formerly a missionary in the Punjab, Northwest India, and now secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian church, Philadelphia; Dr. Charles R. Watson, president of the American University at Cairo, Egypt, and prominent in Y. M. C. A. Student Volunteer and other missionary movements; Dr. and Mrs. J. Kelly Giffen, missionaries on furlough from Khartoum, the capital of the Sudan; Rev. P. J. Smith and wife, from far south in the Sudan on the Sobat River; Dr. Frank C. McClanahan, a medical missionary from Assiut, Egypt, and Rev. J. H. Colvin, from Northwest India. Mission Study classes will be under the leadership of Misses Anna Milligan and Sallie Dickey.

The program consists of Bible Study classes, Mission Study classes, vespers, services, a striking pageant and interesting addresses and sermons. The afternoons are left free for social affairs, recreation and sports. The college dormitories are open for guests. Camp Sayo, a camp for boys and young men, between the ages of 17 and 25, is a new venture. The camp is named for a town in Abyssinia where a medical mission has recently been located.

—The Oregon Chapter, Eastern Star, will meet Tuesday night, Aug. 23, for the purpose of transacting business and conferring the degree. All members are urged to attend.

Forbes Farmer Goes To Look.

Uhel Banks, of Forbes, and his father, who lives on his farm near Shenandoah, Iowa, accompanied by Judge Peter Raiser, have been to inspect the river protection, installed by the Woods Brothers company, near Hamburg, Iowa. Woods Brothers put this work in a couple of years ago to protect the 2300 acres of farm land, which they own there. Mr. Banks has seen other work of this kind, and says there is no question but what they have the only reliable system of bank protection, and that the more he sees of it, the surer he is that it is the right thing. This report just confirms what we have been hearing from other sources, regarding this form of bank protection. We understand that a district is to be formed on the Kansas side to protect "Burr Oak Bottom," and that work will be started in the spring.

Holt County Sunday School Notes.

August 9, Sunday and Monday, Aug. 14 and 15, were the days set aside for our financial drive for the S. S. Association. It is only through your gifts that the association is financed. The work of the association is passing methods we have found helpful. Thorough efficient organization these methods can be quickly passed on to the entire Sunday school world. If we truly wish to see the world Christian, we shall want a share in supporting this work. If your districts is not ready for the drive, August 14 and 15, suppose you plan for the drive the week following. Please confer with your district officers and have your district apportionment met before the county convention, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

We wish to thank the Farm Bureau for changing the county picnic to Aug. 30.

At our business session in the convention, we shall sit together by districts. Districts that have their schools averaging 50 per cent on the International S. S. Standard will be especially mentioned. Atchison county schools average 68 per cent and by so doing ranked third in the state.

The standing of Holt county depends on the standing of your school, although you are in session only when it is not too hot or too cold to go. Evangelical Sunday schools are born into the association the same as we are citizens of our country. The standing of our county depends upon whether we are active or in-active.

We shall have a black and white financial wall map, showing when each school met its apportionment. The following is the International School Standard. Please see where you stand.

- I. (5) Cradle Roll.
- (5) Home Department.
- II. (5) Registered Organized Class in Young People's Division.

Methodist Church Notes.

Time is flying. The year is almost ended since we came. Only a few more Sundays left, and the annual conference, which meets at Brookfield, will make new appointments, with some changes. The work has been a delight, and I can say for the Oregon people what I have not always been able to say, "They are big," applying to every preacher and all the churches.

Our last quarterly conference will be August 30th, and I hope and trust that every one will do his part in closing the year right. First, by their attendance; second, by making it possible that every obligation may be met, remembering that great blessings are in store for the church doing its duty.

The services are as follows: Union prayer meeting at the Evangelical church, Thursday night, 8 o'clock. The Sunday school lesson for next Sunday will be the subject.

Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. Morning worship, 11 a. m. Epworth League, 7 p. m. Evening worship, 8 p. m.

The lay delegate to the annual conference will be elected at the morning service, followed by the Lord's Supper. Only a short talk on the rules of the church in the morning.

Election of Sunday school officers for next year, Friday, Aug. 26, 8:30 p. m.

The district conference meets next week, beginning Monday night and ending Wednesday afternoon, at Mount City.

F. J. SMITH.

G. M. E.

We will be glad to see you in our services next Sunday. Preaching at the Oregon church, Sunday morning, 11 o'clock. At the Nodaway church in the evening, 8 o'clock. All are welcome.

The Third Heaven.

According to an ancient Jewish opinion there were three heavens: (1) that wherein the birds fly, (2) that wherein the stars move, (3) that where the Highest and His angels live. In II Corinthians St. Paul's reference is to the heaven of heavens, the place of God's ruling over angels and all powers, as distinct from Paradise where the souls of the faithful dead abide, to which blest place he was raptured, also, as he says in the same passage.

Give a Thought to the Living.

It is remarkable how few of us ever think that angels may be entertained unaware, that the mist may be the one who is in time to immortalize his name and cast luster on the country of his birth or adoption. It may be all right to canonize the great when they are dead, but it is sad to think how few of them have been appreciated while alive.—Exchange.
